HINO TRUCKS PARTNERS WITH TELOGIS TO PROVIDE NEXT-GENERATION TELEMATICS INTELLIGENCE

NOVI, MI – TELEMATICS UPDATE, DETROIT – Hino Trucks has partnered with Telogis exclusively to release its next-generation platform for Hino INSIGHT, the company’s comprehensive, web-based location and telematics solution tailored specifically for the medium-duty commercial truck market. Hino INSIGHT 2.0 powered by Telogis supports Hino’s ongoing commitment to provide customers with improved total cost of ownership, better vehicle uptime and world-class user experiences. The updated platform will help customers save money, increase safety and improve operations by providing the mission-critical information they require to optimize their fleets.

Launching this summer, Hino INSIGHT 2.0 powered by Telogis will continue to be standard fit on 2015MY Hino 195h and 195h-DC hybrid models, and as an option on the 195 and 195-DC models and the full conventional truck product lineup. The product and service suite will provide Hino customers with access to Telogis’ comprehensive location intelligence platform that includes award-winning solutions for route optimization, real-time work order management, truck-specific navigation, telematics and mobile integration services.

“This next-generation technology brings new functionality, a refined user interface and a robust platform to support the needs of our largest fleet customer or an individual owner-operator,” said Glenn Ellis, Vice President, Marketing, Dealer Operations and Product Planning for Hino Trucks. “Telogis’ significant investments in R&D and product innovation plus its experience in the OEM environment make them the standard for excellence in the connected services industry.”
